

per Concordiam carefully considers all manuscripts that it receives. We review pieces anonymously, without regard to the author's name, affiliation, prior publications, or pending publication offers. Each manuscript is individually reviewed and evaluated.

There is no "best" time to submit a manuscript to the magazine. We will never reject an article for lack of space; rather, we will hold it over for consideration for the future issue. We encourage contributors to submit articles as soon as they are ready. For submission deadlines please refer to the relevant section below.

We will notify authors of the decision by email. We normally do not inform authors of the status of their manuscripts other than through email. As a matter of policy, we do not discuss the reasons for our publication decisions.