

Dr. Katrin Bastian

Dr. Katrin Bastian is a professor of international relations at the George C. Marshall Center's College of International and Security Studies (CISS). She serves in the Research and Policy Analysis Department (RPA), with a focus on European Foreign and Security Policy. She is also Deputy Director of the European Security Seminar South (ESS-South) and of the European Security Seminar North (ESS-North).

Dr. Bastian studied Medieval and Modern History, Political Science and Cultural Anthropology at Cologne University as well as International and European Community Law at Leicester University, UK. She earned her Ph.D. in International Relations from Humboldt University Berlin. Her thesis focused on EU-Russia relations with an emphasis on the institutional set-up and mechanisms of EU Foreign and Security Policy.

Before joining the GCMC Katrin Bastian worked as the personal adviser to the Ambassador of the Principality of Liechtenstein in Berlin where she was involved in the whole range of bilateral diplomacy and political communication. During her 16 year-service at the Embassy she also worked as lecturer of International Relations at Humboldt University Berlin (2005-2008) and at the University of California at Berkeley, U.S. (2009).

Publications

Herd, Graeme / Bastian, Katrin / Tettweiler, Falk (2022): The EU's Ability to Act. Managing threats, crises, and opportunities, Perspectives No. 27, George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies. EU's Ability to Act \(marshallcenter.org\)

Gosnell, Rachael / Bastian, Katrin (2021): Cooperation or Confrontation in the European High North? | George C. Marshall European Center For Security Studies \(marshallcenter.org\), Security assessments and policy recommendations from ESS-North 2021, Security Insights No. 70, George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies.

Bastian, Katrin (2021): The EU in the Eastern Mediterranean—a 'Geopolitical' Actor?, ORBIS, Journal of World Affairs by the Foreign Policy Research Institute, Vol. 65, No.3, pp. 483-489.

Bastian, Katrin / Herd, Graeme (2020): Renewed Transatlantic Responses towards China: Identifying Common Ground, Perspectives No. 18, George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies.

Bastian, Katrin (2006): Die Europäische Union und Russland. Multilaterale und bilaterale Dimensionen in der europäischen Außenpolitik, Wiesbaden: VS Verlag für Sozialwissenschaften.

Bastian, Katrin / Schütte, Rolf (2005): „The Specific Character of EU Russia Relations“, in: Hannes Adomeit / Anders Åslund (Eds): Russia versus the United States and Europe – or “Strategic Triangle”? Developments in Russian Domestic and Foreign Policy, Western Responses, and Prospects for Policy Coordination, Berlin: SWP.

Bastian, Katrin / Götz, Roland (2005): „Unter Freunden? Die deutsch-russische Interessenallianz“, in: Blätter für deutsche und internationale Politik, No. 5, pp 583-592.

Adomeit, Hannes / Bastian, Katrin / Götz, Roland (2004): „Deutsche Russlandpolitik unter Druck“, SWP-Aktuell, No. 56, Berlin: SWP.

Bastian, Katrin (2002): „The NATO Summit in Prague: Germany's Dilemma and NATO's Future“, Finnish translation in: Ulkopolitiikka, No. 4/02, ed. by the Finnish Institute of International Affairs (UPI), pp 41-44.

GCMC, Garmisch-Partenkirchen, October 2022